The Stock Slump.

Wall Street has been agonizing and if the agony does'nt spread who cares? Men who have been making $100,000,000 by the scratch of a pen ought to be made to disgorge—and with the 'water' gone they are landed high and dry; and there are the good boys, mind you, who make mark at the Bryan 50-cent-dollar, and what are their dollars really worth? As "baseless as the fabric of a dream." These are "hot air" noises and nothing more. Let the gambler groan and the rest of us continue to do business at the old stands. A panic is always senseless and useless.

A city of people awaking from a good night's rest should not be disturbed if in the morning rumors of heavy losses in the gambling dens of the city had been sustained during the darkness of the night, and so the country should not be disturbed by wild rumors which have their origin in Wall Street. This is not a nation of "bears" and "bulls," but of men, women and children. Let the bears growl and the bulls rosr, and men, women and children, continue to chat and be cheerful, to work, wait and win.

The next active temperance movement in Virginia will be against the jug trade. As things now go 'dry' territory is now made 'wet,' and at times exceedingly 'wet,' through the medium of the express office. Legislation can control this and will no doubt be brought to bear on it during the next session of the legislature. It sometimes looks as though the evil would be wiped from the face of the earth, and then good men and angels will all rejoice.

When Mr. Roosevelt wants information as to the railroad matters and other matters in general, he welcomes representatives of their different interests to conference at the White House, but in affairs National he has never asked a representative of the great South to become a member of his official family. This is inexcusable and inexplicable.

Hotel racers at Jamestown, in the opinion of our brother of the Danville Register, are of more concern to the average man than are the railroad rates, and in that he is strictly right. It does'nt cost so much to go as it does to stay. Let the proprietors of the Norfolk hostelries speak out and let the people know just what is to be expected.

Waterways of the country are to be well looked after and this may be the reply to be made to railway exactions. People can easily learn to be satisfied with floating rather than flying and will "get there just the same."

Dr. Osler's mother has recently died at the good old age of 100 years, and yet the doctor is on record as having suggested the use of chloroform after the 60-mile post has been reached. Maybe he had in his mind "men only."

It is said that Jerome closed a session of the court one day with a short current prayer. It might have been better to have opened the proceedings with prayer.

If Tillman is rude and uncouth, and ill-mannered, why is it that he is in such demand as lecturer the country over and at a cost of $150 to $200 an evening?

Preaching at Bethel.

There will be divine service on next Sabbath (5th Sunday in March) at Bethel M. E. church at 11 a. m. W. P. Provence.

Marvin Baird.

A great sorrow came to our friend and neighbor, Mr. and Mrs. James L. Baird. On the 3rd day of March God called their precious little Marvin May to himself. In sorrow though their hearts are crushed they must be submissive to God's will, who doeth all things well, having faith that by and by they shall meet her again in that land where parting is no more. She was just 15 months old and the pet of the house. She will be greatly missed, but, Oh! what a comfort it is to know that she is now resting safe in the arms of Jesus, safe on his gentle breast, there by his love over shaded, sweetly their little darling shall rest. They have the sympathy of the entire community.

Death of Miss Jennie R. Elliott
Miss Jennie Elliott, aged 66 years, died at Gordonsville Va., at the residence of her niece, Mrs. Wm. M. Dunn on March 6, 1907.
The deceased was a resident of Appomattox Co., and was spending the winter in Gordonsville.
Though her illness was of two months duration yet at no time was her condition critical until just before death came.
The shock was almost as great to the relatives and friends present as to those absent.
She was greatly beloved by a large circle and will be sorely missed.
The remains, accompanied by relatives, were taken to Spout Spring on March 8, where they were interred at Salem church that afternoon.
Rev. J. B. Jett, pastor, conducted the funeral services.
The pall bearers were nephews of the deceased.
Surviving her are three sisters, Mrs. C. H. Chilton and Mrs. F. B. Jones, of Appomattox county, and Mrs. J. S. Hunter of Ashland Va

On last Saturday Bellevue and Appomattox played a game of ball here which was full of errors and devoid of good work either at the bat or in the field. The score stood 10 to 5 in favor of Bellvue.

On Monday the Hoge Military Academy, of Blackstone, came up and met our boys on the diamond, and they really did "look easy," but after the game got warm the visitors took fresh courage and again our home boys went down in defeat. The game was a pretty one and was enjoyed by a good crowd. The home team played a very good game and had the game won until the last inning, when the visitors won out by a score of 13 to 12.

On Tuesday our team went up to Bellevue and played a return game with the Bellevue boys. It is said the game was a pretty exhibition and our boys showed improvement and came away with the honors of the day, the score standing 9 to 8 in our favor.

Stapleton.

As you have had no news from this place for quite a while I guess the readers of this paper have come to the conclusion that you have no representative in this locality or nothing of interest transpires worthy of mention, so this morning I'll send you a few items whether they be of interest or not.

As usual there are some cases of sickness to report. Miss Annie, daughter of S. R. Martin, has been confined to her bed for some time. Mrs. A. H. Hickman was reported worse yesterday, while Miss Anna Isbell, who has been feeble all the winter, gets no better. With the coming of milder weather may they all improve is our most earnest wish.

Mrs. J. P. Grow, who has been spending the past two months with her son, Charlie, of Wildway, waiting on his sick wife, returned home Saturday reporting Mrs. Grow much improved.

Mrs. Dr. Rucker and children, of Pedlar Mills, who have been visiting her father, V. E. Moore, of Beckham, returned home Saturday.

Miss Allie Booker, of Beckham, is visiting her uncle, Mr. Lewis Harding, of Richmond.

The wedding bells are ringing loud and clear near here. Rumor is informed us that one of our most popular young girls will be led to the hymeneal altar by one of our neighborhood boys in the near future.

Messrs. J. F. Connally, O. E. Peterson and W. A. Womack went to Burkeville this morning to visit the farm of Mr. T. O. Sandy, to take in as much as a few hours would allow of the improved methods of farming and stock raising as practised by Mr. Sandy.

Charles A. Franklin, who teaches a colored school in Prince Edward county, had the misfortune to lose his stable and barn last night caused by his little boy dropping a lighted match in the cow stall.

Spring Mills.

After a long silence I have decided to let the Times hear from this section again. As we all enjoy seeing letters from other friends and sections, so we guess there are anxious eyes scanning the paper for Spring Mills; so here we come.

Our schools are drawing towards a close, the one at Falling River will close the twenty-ninth, and consequently, there are some long faces a-long our young men. It is surely hard to give up a pleasant acquaintance.

Miss Mary Davis, of this place is quite ill.

Mrs. J. W. Davis and daughter, Eunice, are somewhat better.

Mr. Norman Cheatham is at home on the sick list.

Miss Ava T. Morriss and Mr. Floyd R. Ramsey are to be married at Reedy Springs Church on April 3d at 2 o'clock.

Miss Lena Morriss has returned home after a long stay in Bluefield.

Master Edwin Fleshman accompanied her home.

The chirp of the little chick is a familiar sound now, and the lover of this delicate fowl rejoice to hear the familiar sound.

Gardening is the next thing that we have to consider, though very little has been done in this direction.

Tuggle.

Dear Times:—Down in this corner things don't happen, that is of much importance, but will try to give you a few items now and then. Our people are not all sick, though there are many cases of la-grippe around us, neither is everybody married and gone, for the wave of matrimony did not reach us the past winter.

Mr. M. T. Agee has returned to his home in Cumberland, after spending several days with relatives here.

Rev. Mr. Carson, of Prospect, has an extra smile on his pleasant face, caused, we suppose, by the arrival of a wee man that has come to his home.

The stable belonging to Mr. Alvin Smith was burned to ashes Friday night, the 22nd. It is not known how the fire originated.

Mr. Eddie Lockland, of Buckingham, was a visitor in our neighborhood Sunday.

Miss Ollie Fore is visiting friends and relatives in Appomattox.

Mrs. A. H. McCracken has returned to her home at Prospect after spending several weeks with her daughter, Mrs. Harry Straws, of Ronoke.

Mr. J. E. Gills, our wide-awake merchant, who recently moved here from Hurtsville, we understand, is building up a splendid trade.

Mr. N. B. Southall and their little daughter, Nena, spent Saturday in Farmville

Our community was made sad on the 13th inst. by the death of little Bernard, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Straws, which occured at their home in Roanoke. Our sincere sympathy goes out to the bereaved parents of this dear little one.

Do not grieve for him dear mother,
But since he could not stay;
To cheer us with his love
Let hope to meet with him again.
In yon bright home above.

Spring-time is upon us. Farmers and housekeepers are busy indeed. Young chickens and gardens must have attention, so those who have been shut in can now enjoy the delightful fresh air. The sick in our community are now convalescent, though our one M. D. is still mqderately busy.

The Jamestown ter-centennial is receiving its share of attention. I believe every one expects to attend, and doubtless it is a pleasant anticipation.

Mrs. S. G. Payne, who has been sick for several weeks at her brothers, is now visiting her sisters, Misses Ida and Neal Jones.

Miss May Atkinson, accompanied by Miss Emily Feather ton, is now at home after an absence of several months.

Miss Nellie Thornton is very ill to-day.

Payne—Musgrove.

Mr. W. G. Payne and Miss Edna Virginia Musgrove were married at the Phoenix Hotel, Lexington, Ky. on Wednesday morning, March 20 1907, where they met by agreement, by the Rev. Mr. Savage. The groom wore a conventional suit of black and the bride was beautifully attired in a suite of chiffon panama over brown silk, with hat and gloves to match, and carried brides roses The groom is a son of Mr. A. H. Payne, of Pamplin City, Va., and holds a position with the W. J. Oliver Company, of Lexington, Ky. at a lucrative salary, and is well and favorably known by the people of this section of Virginia. And the bride is the charming daughter of Mr. R. E. Musgrove, of Campbell county, Va., and a native of Appomattox, who, after the completion of her common school education in the country, spent one session at the F male College at Roanoke, Va., one session at the Female Institute at Weldon, N. C., and one session at the Female Institute, at Burksville, where she distinguished herself in vocal and instrumental music, her voice having frequently been compared to M'Patti's. After completing her collegiate course she spent one session taking a teacher's course at the Bedford Alum Springs, after which, she taught several sessions in the public schools of the State. Frequently she has been offered positions as music teacher in institutions of learning in this and other States, which she declined. Her voice possesses a sweetness only, which is rarely possessed by any one, and is distinguishable from any one else in any congregation, how ever large. She has been a member of the Baptist Church at Pearl House from childhood, and was organist at that church, and Union Hill Baptist church, from the time she finished her course at school, until her marriage, where she was a great favorite of all. After the ceremony the couple took a west bound train on their wedding tour, touching at Chicago, Niagara Falls and the Dominion of Canada. We extend them congratulations.
